

You are helping kids in Los Toros improve their math, reading and writing skills.

A group of Los Toros elementary school students are completing study worksheets with coaching from their tutor in an after-school session.

One of the newer projects of the Los Toros Mission, the after-school tutoring program is now in its second year. Forty-one students from 7 to 11 years of age are getting extra help from tutors three days a week. The subjects included are math, reading, writing and grammar.

This is one of several Mission projects in Los Toros in the Dominican Republic that your generosity makes possible.
