A little bit about me...

I earned my undergraduate degree in Human Development and Psychology from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. I earned my Elementary Education Degree from Alverno College. I completed my Master of Arts in Education and my reading Teacher license from University of Wisconsin Stout. I completed my Reading Specialist certification from Concordia College. I have a plethora of experience working in a variety of settings. I have taught everything from kindergarten to college. I want to instill a love of reading in all the students that I will be working with. I am looking forward to working with the teachers and students on this great reading journey.
